

Guidance Officer

Jindalee State School is supported by a Guidance officer who provides support to teacher, students and families as needed.

Duties include:

- Assessment of students identified with Special Needs

- Supporting staff, students and families connected to the Special Education Unit

- Advising Staff and parents on programming options for students

A Guidance Officer from Education Queensland is based in the school to assist in identifying student difficulties and to make recommendations regarding assistance. Arrangements are made in consultation with parents and with parental approval. All inquiries regarding Guidance Officer assistance should be made to the school office. On occasions it is appropriate to approach the guidance officer directly. For example parents may want advice on behavior management at home. The telephone number is available from the office.
